

POINT DE CONVERGENCE

POINT DE CONVERGENCE CHARDONNAY Cévennes IGP -- Languedoc

Tasting Note

This is a fresh and exuberant Chardonnay that proudly displays its Mediterranean heritage. The flavours are pure sunshine in a glass – ripe stone fruit and plenty of zesty lemon, with just a lick of oak to add interest and round off the palate.

Point de Convergence

The Point de Convergence range is a collaboration between L'Atelier Wines and super talented Languedoc winemaker Samuel Delafont, made in his home region of Cévennes. The name symbolises the confluence of culture, philosophy, geography and winemaking skill that have brought this project about.

The range focuses on 3 classic styles that best represent this unique part of the world – crisp Chardonnay, elegant Grenache Rosé, and delicious Shiraz-Grenache.

Cévennes IGP

The Cévennes encompasses the northern half of France's Languedoc wine region and is named after the Cevennes mountain range that runs through the region. It is in essence the convergence point of the great southern wine regions of the Southern Rhône, Provence and Languedoc, with each having its own distinct influence on the wines.

Its mountainous location provides warm sunny days with much cooler nights than the floor of the southern Languedoc, adding elegance and finesse to the whites and rosés of the region, and balance and structure to the reds.

Winemaker: Samuel Delafont | Region: IGP Cévennes | ABV: 12.5%
